WHITE TEAS

WHITE PEONY

The unopened silver buds and emerald green leaves of the White Peony loose leaf white tea produces a delicate, pale gold infusion with notes of honey and melon. Well-rounded, yet light and distinctly sweet, this is the perfect introduction to white tea.

OOLONG TEAS

FOUR SEASONS

Light oxidized oolong grows high in the mountains. Smooth and floral, with lingering notes of tropical fruit, this is a light, easy-going oolong for any time of day.

RUBY

A heavily fermented, high mountain oolong. The tightly rolled leaves have been slow baked to produce the deep red infusion from which it derives its name. Full-bodied, with layers of cacao and black cherry, this is a great everyday oolong.

BLACK TEAS

EARL GREY

This Earl Grey is a blend of a single-origin Ceylon black tea base, from the remote Uva region in Sri Lanka, and natural Italian bergamot oil. The natural citrus and pine notes of this particular Ceylon, combined with the bergamot, make it delicately fragrant but with enough of the spicy hit of bergamot to make it a true Earl Grey.

ASSAM

A loose leaf breakfast tea which produces a copper-red cup with a rich, malty flavour and a fresh taste with a dash of milk, this is the perfect pairing for afternoon tea and cake.

ENGLISH BREAKFAST

Taking its lead from the distinctive rich body of Kenyan black tea, and combining it with loyal breakfast favourites Assam tea and Ceylon tea, this whole leaf black English Breakfast tea brews a robust, golden cup - full in body and wonderful with a dash of milk.

DARJEELING

Loose leaf black tea, with silvery tips, floral aroma and muscatel flavour. It's delightfully fragrant

GREEN TEAS

JASMINE PEARLS

Delicate, smooth, and irresistibly aromatic. The beautiful, tightly-rolled pearls unfurl to produce a deliciously floral cup of green tea for any time of day.

SENCHA

Unlike most Senchas which are grown in full sun, this particular example is shaded for 18 days before plucking, making it more similar to a Gyokuro - a style of steamed green tea widely considered to be Japan's finest. This unique shading process brings out the tea's rich, characteristic umami flavour, as well as more sweetness.

HERBAL TEAS

CHAMOMILE

Chamomile tea produces a fresh, sweet cup with hints of apple and honey. Much loved because it's caffeine-free, brings relaxation and serenity to the afternoon tea.

ROOIBOS

Grown exclusively in South Africa's Cederberg mountains, these tiny leaves get their name Rooibos or Redbush from the deep red colour of the leaves once oxidized. Loose leaf Rooibos herbal tea produces a full-bodied, honey-sweet flavour with notes of dried cherries and vanilla. It is a great caffeine-free alternative to a robust breakfast tea.
